This morning we all gathered in the Middle Hall for the annual showcase of some of our best talent: The QM Factor! Children sang, danced and played musical instruments to a grand audience. Staff were incredibly impressed with the children's resilience and patience when faced with some minor technical hitches.

The quality of the performances was incredibly high and the children had obviously been practising and rehearsing for today's final. The rest of the school then had the huge task of voting for their winning acts in KS1, LKS2 and UKS2. The voting system was democratic and fair: every child had one vote and every vote was counted. The results were incredibly close, which goes to show that all of the acts were marvellous in the children's eyes. We would like to congratulate every child who auditioned or performed in the final: an excellent display of positivity, teamwork, resilience, determination and many more of the values that we hold dear to

LOOKING FOR SOMETHING TO DO NEXT WEEK?

The Science Museum has a free event running from 11.00—17.00 every day, called We Are Engineers. This family festival celebrates all things engineering and is full of exciting, hands-on experiences.

COMMUNITY EVENT

Staff at Charing Cross Hospital will be showcasing their services to members of the public at a special open day to celebrate its 200th birthday this month, having been founded in October 1818 by Dr Benjamin Golding.

The open day, taking place in the hospital on Tuesday 30 October from 3.30-6pm, will feature:

- Service stands on the ground floor to showcase the great work that comes out of Charing Cross
- Health MOTs
- Fun activities for children - including face painting and a puppet workshop!
- A recruitment zone with on the day interviews
- Education talks to showcase what it's like to work or volunteer for the Trust and opportunities currently available
- History and clinical tours giving a behind the scenes look at some of our key services
- The Hospitals that make history exhibition which we designed to celebrate NHS70
- Entertainment and music
- Imperial Health Charity activities, including showcasing the new anniversary garden.

This event is open to all and activities are free. Come along and help celebrate this landmark anniversary!
